LATE EDITORIAL.

The new baby girl of President and Mrs. Cleveland's has been named Marion.

FIRE broke out in the Fresno, Cal., court house last Monday and destroyed nearly the whole building.

The article written by R. A. Allred which appears in another column was written for our last issue but on account of the lack of space was held over to this week.

In Illinois a few days ago a game of ball was played between nine young ladies, in regulation uniform and nine young men, the ladies winning the game.

The Phoenix Herald of July 30th says that the entire plant of the Gazette has been transferred to Auditor C. P. Leitch, and that John Dunbar has again taken his old position as editor of that paper.

The Supreme Court reconvened at Prescott yesterday and it is quite likely that in our next issue we will be able to tell our readers whether or not the Classification Law has been sustained. We have full faith that it will be.

LAST week J. G. Luck, in a jealous rage attempted to kill his wife with a razor; he managed to cut her throat in a terrible manner, but not bad enough to cause death, he then cut his own throat and jumped from the window to the ground, a distance of about 30 feet, and died in about 12 hours.

The street between Wm. Kirtland's block and the one owned by Jennings & Gray is being thrown open. This is as it should be. Every street and alley in the city should be opened for public use which would be the means of enhancing the value of property two fold.

MEXICO is being looked upon as only half civilized. It is on a silver basis. The so-called progressive nations are on a gold basis. Mexico is having prosperous times and the progressive nations are now experiencing dull and hard times. Perhaps it would be better not to be so progressive and have better times.—E.

The Prescott Courier prints the following which applies here as well as in Prescott: "If some of the 2 per centers would unhook and put up about a hundred cottages for rent the cottages would be occupied as soon as completed, the population would be increased by a hundred new families and the circulating cash increased several hundred dollars a month.

There are those in the community who are making objections to what was published in the GUARDIAN last week concerning the killing of mad dogs. We simply reiterate what we said before, that every one showing the least signs of madness should be promptly shot, regardless of who he belongs to. Any person who objects to this certainly has not the interest of the community in which he resides at heart.

Two Americans, named Wing and Dwight, have been arrested at Paris, France, on a charge of selling worthless bonds of the Rock Island, Peoria, and St. Louis railroad. Wing has been in trouble there before, having been arrested for borrowing money on these same bonds, which the creditors allege they found to be worthless. He was released, however, a short time ago on bail, and has been re-arrested on the complaint of many purchasers of the bonds, who find no sale for their shares; the value of which they claim to have been misrepresented to them.

The El Paso papers are having a war of words among themselves over the gambling license tax, and the following appeared in the Tribune of that city on July 28th which will give our readers some idea of what the pencil pushers of El Paso think of each other.

"Come off the perch, you old pelican," says the Herald. We don't care to nick-name our brother of the quill, we think it unbecoming our vocation, but, however, we'll just retaliate by saying "you come off the perch, you shy-poke you fly-up-the-creek—you, one-gutted bird you—of the genus phalacrocorax griseus."

"That county classification act is creating a peck of trouble outside of causing wakeful nights for the county officers. Graham county, through her board of supervisors engaged attorneys Kibby and Egan to assist in the defence of the law, and now District Attorney Jones, of the same county, has commenced proceedings to prevent the payment of these attorneys for their services."—Sulphur Valley News.

THE District Attorney gave the board to understand, in plain words before Judge Kibby and Col. Egan were employed that it was unnecessary to employ outside attorneys in the case, that he was able to attend to the duties of his office, that he did not propose to see $700 or $800 of the people's money expended needlessly, and that if the board employed outside attorneys he would enjoin the payment of their fees. As soon as the board made an order to pay Judge Kibby a retainer's fee the District Attorney enjoined the payment of the same, and he did just right.

THE recent statement of the GUARDIAN that the District Attorney of Cochise county had "thrown off" on the Classification Law is more than confirmed by the so-called "brief" filed by him with the Supreme Court. It cites not a single decision, but leaves it for the court to hunt up authorities with which to meet opposing counsel. It contains but two pages and five lines printed. It is not a make-shift; it is worse than that. It is simply a confession of judgment, in the opinion of one acquainted with all the facts.

The hope of the people is that the Supreme Court will accept no confession of judgment from Cochise county, but that in view of other briefs supporting the law the decision may be such as will preserve the interests of Graham and all other counties of the Territory.

PROF. CHAS. H. TULLY was in town yesterday in the interest of the Tucson Citizen. Next week an article will appear in the GUARDIAN on the new school law, written by Prof. Tully. He says that the article which appeared in this paper some time ago in regard to that law, written by "Teacher" is substantially correct.

WIT OF GREAT MEN.

Beaconsfield and Spurgeon Were Both Liberally Endowed.

The prompt wit of the late Lord Beaconsfield is well known. On one occasion when he was a member for Bucks, he presided at the annual dinner of the county agricultural society at Aylesbury. Among the company, says the New York Post, was a farmer in the neighborhood, a son of the Emerald Isle, and a red-hot radical. The commencement of Mr. Disraeli's speeches was frequently characterized by an almost painful hesitation, and on this occasion the faltering was even more noticeable than usual, but the restless eyes were very bright, and the master of fence was ready with parry or point. "Speak up," cried the Irishman; "get on faster." He had fallen into the trap. "Wait, my friend," said the member; "it takes some time to bring my ideas down to yours." Many anecdotes, more or less apocryphal, have been current as to the wit of the late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon. One, however, which is perfectly authentic, is characteristic of the man. On one occasion he was much annoyed by three young men, who persisted in wearing their hats. He appeared for the time not to notice them, but proceeded to tell his audience of a visit he had paid to a Jewish synagogue. "When I entered," he said, "I took off my hat, but was informed that the great mark of respect was to keep it on. I did so, though I can assure you I felt very strange wearing my hat in a place of worship. And now, as I paid this mark of respect to the synagogue, may I ask those three Jews in the gallery to conform equally with our rules, and kindly uncover their heads?" The men collapsed.

TO BE IN GOOD SOCIETY.

Culture and Refinement to Have Precedence Over Birth and Rank.

High moral character and education, whether it be of book lore or that of observation and good example, polish of manner and good habits are the requisites of good society. One whose ideas of social equality were rather democratic than exclusive, says the Philadelphia Press, was heard to remark: "One man is born just as good as another, and a great deal better than some." Unless the son of a gentleman be a gentleman he is no more entitled to the name suggesting refinement than a man is entitled to the name of general whose father before him was a general. One must win his own laurels or go uncrowned.

Birth to a marked degree is an accident, and those who are considered to be well born are oftentimes the most objectionable elements of society and the most dangerous associates. One need but watch closely the daily record of those on both sides of the Atlantic, whose birth gives them prestige in society, to prove that education and cultivation of high morals go further toward making refined society than all capital. One must win his own laurels or go uncrowned. The nobility of culture and refinement should have precedence over the nobility of birth and rank.

SPICY PERSONALS.

JOE MANLEY has been traveling through Ireland, and he sends word home that he never saw finer looking men and women or heard better English spoken than in Dublin.

GOV. FRANK BROWN, of Maryland, is the heir to one-half of the estate of the late James Carroll, whose property is estimated to be worth not less than $500,000.

DR. LYMAN, the new Mendota hospital superintendent at Madison, Wis., measures six feet five inches, and his brother, Dr. John Lyman, of Eau Claire, six feet seven inches.

EX-GOV. HOARD, of Wisconsin, is proud of the distinction he enjoys, that of being the best dairyman in the northwest. He will not waste feed on a cow that will not earn $50 a year with butter at 20 cents a pound.

MR. HERBERT SPENCER is irritated by the use which has been made of his name and views in support of socialism, and he goes so far as to say: "I believe the advent of socialism to be the greatest disaster the world has ever known."

WILLIAM BOYCE, a Muskegon (Mich.) bachelor who died a few days ago, lived in a little room, did his own cooking and everybody supposed he was poverty-stricken. An inventory of his estate shows $25,000 personal and $100,000 real estate.

GOV. MORRILL gives it out flat and cold that he will never sign a death warrant unless the statute relating to capital punishment is made mandatory. Every governor of Kansas has taken the same view of the matter, and if there is to be any legal hanging in that state the legislature will have to say so.

CLEANED IN ART CIRCLES.

PHIL MAY, of London Punch, is said to be earning more money just now than any artist in England.

ROSA BONHEUR's "Going to Market in Britain," 95x31 inches, sold in London for $7,500; in 1888 it brought $3,000; in 1870, $8,925, and in 1885, $5,700. A Corot, "Le Printemps," brought $3,835, and Orchardson's "The Story of a Life" $3,727.

AT Beuron, a Benedictine abbey on the Danube due north of the Lake of Constance, a new school of Catholic art has arisen. The monks have painted the decorations of the cathedral at Constance, the frescoes of the life of St. Benedict in the sanctuary at Monte Cassino, near Naples, and the life of the Virgin in the Abbey church of Emaus at Prague.

LANDSEER'S "Chevy" was sold lately in London for $29,925, and his "The Sentinel," portraits of two of the duke of Beaufort's dogs, for $2,710. Phillips' "Early Career of Murillo" brought $19,950, Israel's "Pancakes," $4,735; Hook's "Gold of the Sea," $3,230, and Wilkie's "The Abbotsford Family," $3,150. Turner's drawing of Boston was sold for $1,520, and six vignettes, including "A Shipwreck," "A Ship on Fire" and "Jedburgh Abbey," for from $400 to $600.
